Celebrating 88 Years

The old dairy barn

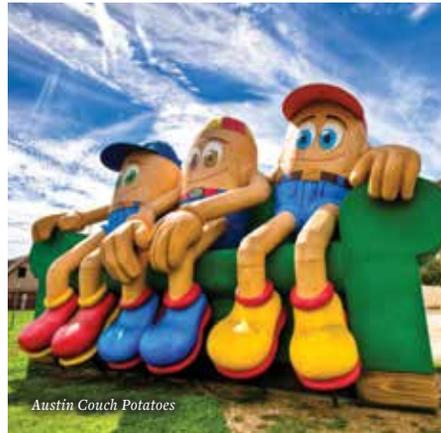

Bob Winter

“If only one person benefits from our actions... it was worth it.”

-BOB WINTER

Ben and Eva Winter

Austin Couch Potatoes

This year marks the Winter family's 88th year in the furniture business. This year, the Winters also celebrate the life of second-generation owner, Bob Winter. In fact, Bob was the source of inspiration that led to his parents' start in the furniture business. In the early 1930s, Ben and Eva Winter invested in a Derby Gas Station along with a soda fountain named the Howdy Come In, on Highway 50 west of Emporia, Kansas. One day, a hitchhiker stopped at the Howdy Come In with two suitcases, one for his clothing and the second for his cabinet-making tools. Ben and Eva hired him to use some walnut lumber in one of the barns to make a chifforobe for the soon-to-be-born baby boy, "Bobby." Ben and Eva were so impressed with the craftsmanship of the chifforobe, they were inspired to acquire furniture from local farm auctions and have the cabinetmaker recondition it. Soon, furniture took over space in the dairy barn, and the Winter Furniture Store was born.

As Bob grew, the family business grew too. Ben and Eva completely immersed themselves in the furniture business by moving the store from the dairy barn to downtown Emporia in the early 1940s. Bob went on to receive a bachelor's degree in Business from Kansas State Teachers College in Emporia, where he met the love of his life, Joyce, on a blind date. Shortly after they were married, they moved to Denver and Bob worked as a buyer at Denver Dry Goods, and then Davis and Shaw Furniture, his dream job, before moving the family back to Emporia and joining his father in the family business in 1967. He lived and breathed furniture as he worked alongside his father and brother for nearly 30 years at Winter Furniture in Emporia. When Bob was nearly 65 years old, when most his age were planning retirement, he and Joyce began the exciting venture of fulfilling their dream – opening their own furniture store. This dream was realized when they opened Discovery Furniture in Topeka, in 2000, and they were thrilled when son Jeff, along with wife June, decided to join the venture. The business continued to grow with the addition of RoomMakers in 2003, and the excitement for the family business inspired son Jamie and wife Jeannie to join the partnership in 2009. About a decade from the beginning of Discovery Furniture, the Winter family dove headfirst into a bold, new adventure once again as they expanded their business concept into the Furniture Mall of Kansas in Topeka and later in Olathe. When Bob was faced with challenges he was often caught quoting "Dream like you'll live forever and live like you'll die tomorrow." Bob's inspiration has led the family business to be a full family affair now as Bob and Joyce's four children and their spouses all work for the business in some form or fashion.

Today, the Furniture Mall of Kansas remains what it has been since 1933 – a faith-based family business dedicated to improving the lives of others through the furniture business. And that is what Bob Winter was all about: faith, family, and furniture. We celebrate Bob and his extraordinary legacy by continuing his passion to do business better – as we strive every day to be better at helping our guests have more beautiful and comfortable homes.

About Austin Couch Potatoes & Austin Grown Furniture

Since 2010, Austin Couch Potatoes has dreamed of designing and manufacturing their own upholstery furniture. And as dreams go, it has taken awhile and has been a journey.

During the early years, while starting Austin Couch Potatoes, the three owners were all in and actually lived together in the warehouse. They landed on their calling and built the mission statement, "Use furniture to empower people to thrive around the world." Business was tough. Most furniture was being imported from outside the USA, and what was made here was too expensive and took too long to get. So they stepped out in faith and started their own factory.

Their factory workforce is built on the foundation of second chances directly rooted in their faith in God. They believe every human being is worthwhile, and if you are breathing, God is probably not done with you.

Much of the Austin Grown work family is part of a second-chance opportunity offering work to those who would likely have had difficulty finding good employment. When they walk through the doors of Austin Grown Upholstery Factory, the focus is on job performance as well as the person they dream of becoming. Austin Grown works alongside these employees to help them develop their skills, find housing, reconnect with family, and become a giving part of society.

It is a true and beautiful story of loving people, offering second chances, treating people fairly, and manufacturing comfortable and exciting furniture.

Here's how one work family member puts it: "I have worked in upholstery for 43 years in prison and have been working for Austin Grown for almost 2 years. I like working here because my past doesn't really bother anyone. My dream is to own a home in Austin."

In 2019, Austin Couch Potatoes formed a partnership with Furniture Mall of Kansas to share Austin Grown Upholstery Factory, and to open the new Furniture Mall of Texas in Austin. This partnership will help grow much more than furniture in Austin, and now in Kansas!

HELPFUL TIPS

Making your home a reflection of you?

Helpful tips on selecting a sofa that is uniquely yours.

The thought of purchasing a new sofa can be a bit scary. To gain inspiration, it's common to hop online or flip through a magazine to curate ideas and start the purchase journey. But what else should you be considering?

The best place to start is a basic understanding of the sofa's purpose. Here are a few common usages with helpful tips on style and color/fabric considerations for each.

LARGE GATHERINGS

STYLE: Think deeper seats and ample space. Would a sectional work?

COLOR/FABRIC: Performance fabrics allow use without fear as they're easy to clean, soft, and fade-resistant. Darker colors feel warm and cozy. Softer textures invite you to lounge through every commercial break.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON NAPS

STYLE: Detached back cushions and round arms with good padding (for laying your head on). With the detached cushions it's like having a twin bed.

COLOR/FABRIC: Look for cleaning code "W" fabrics which use water-based cleaners so that wet clothes or drool (Dad?) won't leave spots. Consider smooth textures which tend to be more comfortable for lying down.

SMALLER SPACES

STYLE: Narrow arms provide more space for sitting and tall legs will help expose the floor below the sofa, making it feel more open.

COLOR/FABRIC: Lighter, monochromatic bases can allow for many colors and textures in accents without making a space feel crowded.

FORMAL VIBE

STYLE: Consider a classic tight-back tailored look that will stand the test of time.

COLOR/FABRIC: Rich hues, textures, and fabrics with a "shimmer." If the sofa will be placed in a "light-use" room, consider rayon blends which offer a richness to the style and work best for pieces that are used less frequently.

Cozy up your home!

With area rugs and wall art

Every space in your home will feel more cozy with a beautiful area rug. An area rug can transform the way a room looks and feels—it defines the layout of the space and adds a layer of depth that brings a room together. It also adds softness, texture, and warmth underfoot, which gives the space a feeling of relaxation and comfort. Consider the type of rug that will work best for your room, choose a longer pile or a shag for a luxurious feel, or a low-pile rug which provides durability for high-traffic areas, or layer with a cowhide rug to add a natural beautiful and cozy statement to any room.

The addition of wall art that reflects the beauty of the season and your personality will also cozy up your home. Choose portraits, landscapes, or natural elements that bring the outside in. Adorning your walls with warm soothing tones and textures will make your space inviting and comforting.
